michael green shines a light on salvation as it appears in scripture and in our lives in this perennial classic of soteriology michael green explores the deeply human longing for salvation but what did salvation mean to jewish and gentile people at the time of jesus green traces salvation through the old testament first century greco roman sources and the new testament what emerges is the conviction that salvation is not just a hope for the future but an offer of redemptive grace for the here and now in a culture increasingly rife with despair and anxiety green s timeless work this book explores the link between paul s belief that jesus is israel s messiah and his interpretation of the abrahamic land promise in galatians countering claims that paul replaces the promised land with the gift of the spirit or salvation esau mccauley argues that paul expands this inheritance to include the whole earth believing that as the seed of abraham and david jesus is entitled to the entire world as his inheritance and kingdom mccauley argues that scholars have neglected paul s expanded interpretation of the inheritance of the earth rarely appreciate the role that messianism plays in galatians and fail to acknowledge that second temple authors often portrayed royal and messianic figures as god s means of fulfilling the promises made to abraham and israel via the establishment of kingdoms through a comparison of texts from the pseudepigrapha apocrypha and the dead sea scrolls with galatians 3 1 4 7 5 21 mccauley argues paul s interpretation of jesus s death is a manifestation of second temple messianism because it ends the covenant curses outlined in deuteronomy and begins the restoration of the inheritance to abraham s offspring through the establishment of jesus s worldwide kingdom he concludes that paul s interpretation of the abrahamic inheritance is inseparable from his belief that jesus is israel s messiah an story illustration of the definition of salvation a new perspective understanding for a long time now there has been a great debate in christendom as to what is required of a person by god to obtain salvation from him is it totally of grace as some people say or does it require works as well since the bible seems to talk about both works and grace concerning salvation and since according to romans 11 that works and grace are the opposite of each other it would appear that the bible is contradicting itself however once you come to understand that there is a one true way to interpret the holy scriptures which is one who lives in today s world has never seen before then it opens up a whole new understanding as to what the bible has to say concerning salvation and that there is no contradiction and once you know what god truly requires of his people you can then live your life by this greater more accurate knowledge to have the salvation of everlasting life given to you someday
